
You Need Help, I am Here for a Fee!

Posted by samcarducci - 2008/08/31 13:43

<http://www.urwebsite.info/images/headerforum.jpg>

Hi my name is Sam Carducci with URwebsite.info,

When people email me and ask for a quote, I always follow the same process. I visit their current site and determine the following:

- * The current website.
- * The scope of the site - how many unique styling elements will be required for specialty pages?
- * The perceived complexity of the re-design. Does this person want a graphical masterpiece with all kinds of bells and whistles?
- * Is there even a website already?

Generally speaking, there's not a whole lot of variance in these areas from website to website, so after checking out the site in question, I usually have a good idea of how much to charge. Now, to answer the question you all want to hear...How much is all this gonna run ya?

If you are just needing to setup your Joomla Website meaning installing the quickstart package or maybe you already have a database but want to change your template to look like the demo & making sure everyting works right, pricing starts at just $20 Dollars US & go up from there.

At this time for any custom designs start at $500. This price is for a website that has minimal graphical complexity, no customized icons, and no major logo re-production. What you do get at this price is rock-solid, browser-tested CSS, XHTML, and simple (but striking) graphic design.

In most cases, bells and whistles like plug-in support, unique page designs, and extra graphics push the price up into the $1200-$1500 range. From there, the price is largely dictated by page-specific CSS/XHTML production and custom graphic design. It's totally conceivable that a pimped out website could run as much as $3000. Rest assured, though, that it would be totally badass, and the recipient of the design would receive mad props for having such a killer online website.

My work is great & have setup many Joomla websites, in both 1.0.15 & 1.5.6. Please check out some of the website that I have done.

<http://www.urwebsite.info/images/portfolioforum.jpg>

<http://demo.urwebsite.info/>

To find out your price, please email me... Go to the Contact Me link on my website, Thank you...

URL: <http://www.urwebsite.info/>

=====

Re:You Need Help, I am Here for a Fee!

Posted by sandhya - 2008/11/19 00:40

Hi

I am paying to have it installed by you guys, but in the future, if I want to expand membership, I want to be able to upload it on to a couple more of my other sites. But to do so, I have to get over a hump problem. I am attempting to load it up in the template package upload area in the Joomla template area, (this is figured out, after looking all over the internet for references on how to load template zip files to the admin back end) but I keep getting an error message;ERROR: Could not find an XML setup file in the package. and :Installation file not found:

/home2/albanyfi/public_html/media/install_4923b36db44d3/

anyone able to help a newbie such as me decypher?

thanks~!

=====