
Kwick Menu not working in IE7

Posted by Brian Rembrandt - 2008/01/18 08:49

I've had Quick Menu working on my site for a while. I guess I never noticed that in IE7 it displays with all the png files expanded showing both open and closed positions reduced to fit on the screen.

It works on the Mac in Safari, and Firefox, and on the PC (Vista) in Firefox. I only see the problem in IE7. I added the javascripts to my index.php page and set the config.

The site is <http://www.dirt.com>.

I just downloaded the module today and reinstalled it and I still see the same problem. One note: when the page first loads it looks ok, but after about 2 seconds the png files change size and squeeze the entire image into the allotted space for the slide action.

Re:Kwick Menu not working in IE7

Posted by Rembrandt - 2008/01/20 15:02

I unpublished it because of the error, I will publish it now for you to take a look.

Re:Kwick Menu not working in IE7

Posted by Brian Rembrandt - 2008/01/20 15:06

I just published it

Re:Kwick Menu not working in IE7

Posted by Brian Rembrandt - 2008/01/22 00:46

I had to unpublish the module again because of the problem in IE7 but I am attaching screen shots. I reinstalled the version you have here after redownloading the files from here and got the same thing with your default images. Here are the screen shots. Any help would be appreciated.

Re:Kwick Menu not working in IE7

Posted by Brian Rembrandt - 2008/01/22 01:02

Here are the images in a zip. Zip wouldn't upload here. I ran a test on the site using BrowserCam.com and it shows the module not working in all versions of IE7, but working in everything else. I tested it on every platform they have. I turned off the module since most of my traffic is IE.

Re:Kwick Menu not working in IE7

Posted by RonySYZ - 2008/03/08 03:29

Hello
If you still have any trouble
please make a new thread
Thanks
