
2 Problems with Kwick Menu

Posted by Lea - 2008/02/11 14:20

Hi,

first of all: great looking menu, i have serache high and low for something like it, it's GREAT. The only 2 problem i can't seem to solve are:

1. the menu breaks in 2 lines whatever i do (adjusting width in css and/or module)- this i fixed with the hint i found in this forum about adding a +30 to "$widthmenuall = $widthmenu * 6 + 25;" this worked, although i feel a little ill at ease with it..
2. I can't seem to center the menu, whatever I do. It always seems to have 30px padding on the left side. You can look at it here: <http://www.ifproductions.de/joomla>

Any help at all would be graetly appreciated, since I am really going mad looking at the css over and over again.

Thanks! Lea.

Okay, I found out more: the fix for problem 1 causes problem 2. So problem one remains the only unsolved problem: why is the menu split in Mozilla FF, and looks good in IE?

please, anyone? I am getting desperate!
