
How do I have multiple minifrontpages?

Posted by Brad Brugger - 2008/02/16 06:48

I've searched the forum and posts and tutorials and all I can find is that I need to "copy" or "clone" the module. I can't find any instructions on that.

So, can someone please tell me how to "copy" minifrontpage so I can use multiple instances of it, as is done on the demo. I have an established site with a different template and don't want to switch and load the "quick start". I just want to use multiple instances of minifrontpage on my existing site.

Thanks for any help.

Re:How do I have multiple minifrontpages?

Posted by Andy Sikumbang - 2008/02/16 08:00

Hi Brad,

It's easy :)

From you joomla backend go to Modules > Site Modules

Check the Mini Frontpage checkbox then click the "Copy" icon that located on the right top of the page.

Re:How do I have multiple minifrontpages?

Posted by Brad Brugger - 2008/02/16 08:12

Dooohh !!!!!

After I see it now, I feel like a fool....

Thank You!!

Re:How do I have multiple minifrontpages?

Posted by Andy Sikumbang - 2008/02/16 08:51

You're welcome brad :)

Re:How do I have multiple minifrontpages?

Posted by Sébastien - 2008/04/21 02:01

Hello,

I want copy a minifrontpage, but the file style.css it's not copy when I copy minifrontpage whis joomla. Could you help me

Sorry for my english I'm a french man

Re:How do I have multiple minifrontpages?

Posted by RonySYZ - 2008/04/21 02:06

Hello Sébastien,

you don't need copy the physically files, you just need go to your administrator page, then module manager. at module manager, you would be find that module, click a box beside that, then choose copy.

And it copied now, just do like that if you want more.

Regards
Rony

=====