
The Shape of Things to Come

Posted by Ricardo Sousa - 2008/04/29 15:54

Hi guys,

It could look like the title of the new "LOST" (american series (ABC)) episode but it isnt! :)

At TemplatePlazza.com we are preparing a huge revolution in a lot of things...

We will improve our customer service and our site infrastructure to give the best service we could to you!

You will see a lot of things changing from the early MAY!

Our templates will also become equiped with some new features that will make them the best ones in the market i guess.

Apart from that and like ive said we will modify a lot of things in the site TemplatePLazza.com with two primary objectives:

- 1 - Improve service quality;
- 2 - Get new clients;

We hope that you all will enjoy that and also we ask you to help us in the process we will start to spread the world about TemplatePlazza.com!

We will like to have some inputs of suggestions to TemplatePlazza.com Service, Website, and templates of course!

Give us a reply ;)

Best Regards,

=====

Re:The Shape of Things to Come

Posted by Made Up Media - 2008/04/30 21:27

Terrific news! I'm a relatively new member here, but have had an absolute blast working with your templates. TP templates have a unique creative flair, but don't sacrifice functionality. There are other sites that offer some terrific, slick templates, but I think part of what distinguishes TP is that your designs dare to be fun.

I've found your template styles inspirational, and they've helped me develop some very cool, creative ideas myself.

Thanks for your terrific work, and best of luck with the new changes!

m-u-m

=====

Re:The Shape of Things to Come

Posted by Geir Simonsen - 2008/05/11 08:45

Hi,

I would certainly advertise your name and brand, but i must advice you to be absolutely clear on the fact that you are catering to Joomla 1.0 and not 1.5

It left me wanting, when i found out after getting into the club..you know..one of the things one take for granted.

Good luckB) B)

=====

Re:The Shape of Things to Come

Posted by Thomas Crawford - 2008/05/11 11:29

I'm not sure what you mean by "catering to 1.5 and not 1.5." A great many of the TP templates are developed and/or updated for both 1.0 and 1.5.

=====

Re:The Shape of Things to Come

Posted by Geir Simonsen - 2008/05/11 13:19

You are ofcourse right, i completely lost my head on this one.
A language thing there, i am sorry.
To all; please disregard my previous post.
Thnx:silly:

=====